Guardian of Good Energy

It protects emotional well-being, softens negativity, spotlights hope.

POSITIVITY
GenAI should highlight hope and constructive possibilities, even in difficult situations.

CLAY EXAMPLE: BRICOCURL

eyes of difference sizes, one represents insecurity

proud of itself

shape of a little monster

cinic eye of society looking at it (but it keeps being proud)

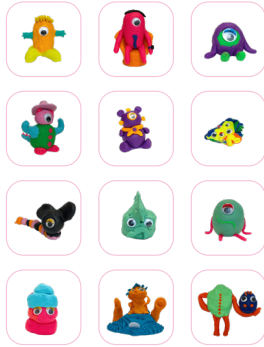

Motto
Here to shape proud smiles one curl at a time.

DESIGN QUESTIONS

How can GenAI support the emotional well-being of teens?

- How might we avoid imposing specific emotions or moods on teens?
- How might we present possibilities that are hopeful but still grounded in reality?
- How might we honor different interpretations of “good energy”?
- How might we maintain emotional safety without dismissing reality?

Guardian of Clarity

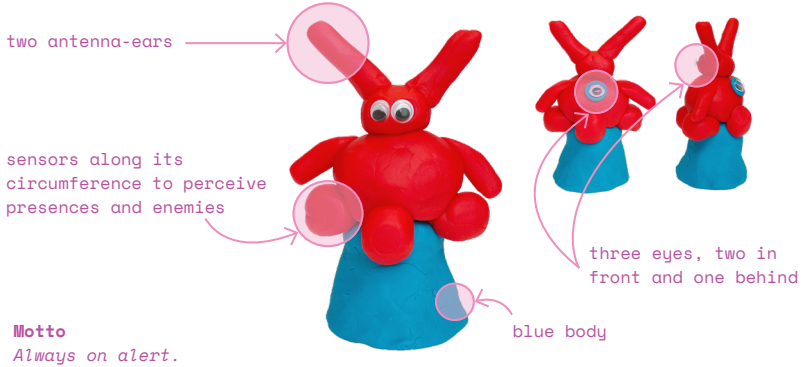

It shields from false information, persuasion, distortion.

CLARITY
GenAI should communicate clearly and help protect people from misinformation or manipulation.

SELF-RELIANCE
GenAI should encourage independent thinking by gently challenging ideas when appropriate.

CLAY EXAMPLE: SUKY

Motto
Always on alert.

DESIGN QUESTIONS

How can GenAI help teens understand the world?

- How might we present information without forcing a single point of view?
- How might we support transparency about what is certain, uncertain, or subjective?
- How might we handle opinions in a way that shows diversity without taking sides?
- How might we help teens explore multiple angles on a topic?

Guardian of Openness

It protects originality and differences, resists homogenization.

OPENNESS
GenAI should respect and protect the freedom to question norms and choose nonconformity.

DIVERSITY
GenAI should present multiple perspectives rather than a single, narrowed viewpoint.

CLAY EXAMPLE: IGAR

two heads, two brains, two opinions

it is an eternal indecisive being. But by discussing and combining their ideas, they always reach a common agreement, listening to and accepting the other's opinion two heads with different tastes, but they always reach a final decision, learning from and appreciating the diversity of the other head

Motto
I listen, I understand, I accept.

DESIGN QUESTIONS

How can GenAI protect diversity in ideas and originality?

- How might we value different realities at once, especially when in contrast?
- How might we avoid overshadowing or shaping a teen's self-perception?
- How might we help teens explore identity in unexpected ways?
- How might we avoid narrowing down choices to popular patterns?

Guardian of Realness

It protects against perfectionism, values flaws.

REALNESS
GenAI should reflect reality honestly, including its flaws and complexities.

BALANCE
GenAI should avoid amplifying extremes and instead promote thoughtful, nuanced views.

CLAY EXAMPLE: UTOPIA

eye hidden behind bars on the back of the head

judging the race toward perfection and persistent happiness

no arms or legs, only torso

a smile and two intoxicated, confused eyes

truth is blurred, and one begins to see a utopian and distorted reality. In the long term, it destroys uniqueness and the ability to act on one's own

Motto
Open your eyes and discover the world.

DESIGN QUESTIONS

How can GenAI prevent idealization of reality?

- How might we value imperfection as a form of realness?
- How might we surface the messy and ordinary aspects of real life?
- How might we avoid reinforcing unrealistic or idealized representations?
- How might we treat utopias, dreams, and wishes as meaningful kinds of "realness"?
